Yariv Oppenheimer has served as Peace Now leader since 2002. Before that he worked for the Israeli Labour Party as Director of the Youth Department. He has completed a degree in Law and is studying for his M.A. in public policy at Tel Aviv University. He began his career as a political activist while still in high school, taking part in hundreds of activities to support the Oslo Accord. During those years he became convinced that a two-state solution to the Israeli-Palestinian conflict was the only road to peace and in Israel's own interest.
